To Whom it May Concern,

Earlier this month you received an email notifying you that Escape Trailer Industries has recently changed their method of installation for the solar panel. As part of this change Escape Trailer Industries is currently working on a mail-out kit which will be sent out to all Escape Trailer owners who have had the Solar Panel installed on the roof of their trailer by Escape.

As we prepare to move forward with mailing out the Solar Panel Reinforcement Kits we have realized that we will require further information from all owners who have a 15' or 17' Escape to ensure we provide them with the proper reinforcement kit.

On these trailers there is a limited amount of available roof space depending on the options installed during production. The solar panels maybe located in the front of the trailer, the back of the trailer, spanning the roof or running length ways down the roof.

Please provide us with the appropriate information accompanied by a photo of your trailer showing the solar panel placement.

We are working towards having the reinforcement kits ready for mail out by July 31, 2015.

Please remember if you have adjusted your solar panel after production, I would definitely add some bolts before you hit the road. Any panel we installed that was asked to be raised higher than our standard was installed with bolts.
